Projects

Cloud Resume Challenge

Original Project Link: Resume Challenge by Forrest Brazeal

GitHub Repo: GitHub

- As part of the Cloud Resume Challenge, I successfully created a static S3 website to show my resume, demonstrating my proficiency in front-end development using technologies such as Python, CSS, HTML, and JavaScript. I implemented responsive design principles to ensure that my website is easily accessible across different devices.

- In addition, I gained hands-on experience in managing, creating, deploying, and testing end services utilizing AWS services like Lambda, DynamoDB, S3, Route53, and AWS SAM. I used Lambda functions to execute serverless code, DynamoDB to store and retrieve data, S3 to store and serve static files, and Route53 to manage DNS records. I also used AWS SAM to package and deploy my application.

- Through this project, I learned how to design and build a full-stack web application in the cloud, and gained a deep understanding of the various AWS services that can be used to create scalable and reliable applications.
